

OregonASK Professional Development Descriptions

OregonASK offers in-person coaching and training for professional development for afterschool professionals.

Coaching	OregonASK educator coaching is a process that aims to improve performance and focuses on what afterschool professionals can do here and now to improve facilitation of curriculum and skill building after training. This process is meant to extend support for facilitators as they develop toward their goals for working with youth. An OregonASK trainer provides coaching to clients to consider goals and how to help clients meet them, reinforcing the clients growth with important resources and discussion.
Training	OregonASK In-Person training includes one trainer, engaging activities, action planning, handouts and activity materials for up to 30 participants, 31-49 participants includes an additional support person and over 50 participants includes two trainers. All participants receive a certificate of completion.
